May 18 PA Primary Election

What is a Closed Primary?

There are two elections every year: a closed Primary Election in the spring (May 18, 2021), and an open General Election in the fall (Nov. 2, 2021.) Pennsylvania's closed primary election only allows members of the two major political parties—Republican or Democratic—to choose their candidates for the General Election. However, all voters can vote on all ballot questions. See below. Any registered voter can vote for any candidate of any party in the General Election. There is no "independent" party in Pennsylvania, but candidates in the Libertarian, Green and other Parties can run for office in the General Election, and anyone can vote for them.

Ballot Questions and Amendments

In the Primary, all voters can vote on ballot questions, amendments, and special elections. There will be five or six ballot questions on the Primary ballot: four statewide ballot questions, one county-wide ballot question, and one city-wide ballot question. Go to Vote411.org or lwvpgh.org for descriptions of each of these ballot questions.

Changing or Choosing a Party

In order to vote for candidates in a closed primary election, you had to choose either the Democratic or Republican party when you registered to vote. However, you can choose or change your party affiliation by re-registering at VotesPA.com or requesting a paper registration form. Just check Change Party. Find resources on the reverse side.

Who Is Running for Office?
